

Leg Pain

The pain in my hips hurts very much
Makes me insane to the slight touch
It radiates down my leg and into my knee
It is not very much fun for me

In the middle of the night it will awaken me
From a deep sound sleep
Wide awake I will become
Aware of the pain, from which it comes

It is a dull pain, the achy kind
That doesn't go away in a short time
It comes and goes and does not take much
To activate the pain, that hurts so much

After some time the pain will fade
Sometimes a few minutes
Sometimes all day
Its not much fun to play this way

The left hip is where the pain resides
Top of the leg, on the out side
A chipped bone, a sore muscle
Only the doctor can say.

But the doctor is stumped and cannot decide,
What to do next, maybe exercise.
And if that fails, a pill will help.
To dull the pain, at least for today.

It's not a perfect science, being a doctor you know.
Hard to decide, which way to go.
Maybe a chiropractor will answer the bill.
Instead of taking another pill.

So I'll have this pain, the one in my leg.
The one I feel, every day.
As it radiates down to my knee.
We'll find a solution, for the right fee.
