

Co-Signer

My granddaughter might not pay.

So I must have a key made today.

Just in case she falters.

I'm the grandfather, the co-signer.

It will be sad, if she doesn't pay the bank.

It upsets me, I even filled her first tank.

I'll take the car when she's asleep.

And tell her, it is mine to keep.

I signed in good faith.

And she did too.

Now it is up to her

To be faithful and true.

She wanted to be the prime on the loan.

To be that adult, all grown.

I backed her up, as she asked.

Now she must pay out the cash.

And if they ask me, where's their cash.

I'll get my new car, and I'll get it fast.

Probably have to refill the tank.

Just in case she doesn't pay the bank.
