

A Democratic Leader

A Democratic candidate is one wishing to make office on the back of the poor.

The disadvantaged who have been left in the rear view mirror,

By no fault of their own.

It's all the rich folks that made them poor, is the cry you hear.

They promise to give them the support and jobs,

Like never before.

What happened, when they were in office?

Did we forget to keep score?

If they did pull the poor from the gutter,

Where would they put them?

Don't they need the poor to continue their quest?

Too keep them in office, and keep the mess?

Don't worry, they'll take from the rich,

Give it to you, to help you get ahead.

They have so much, and that, they don't need.

They'll keep you in the party with the rich's bread.

If the poor had everything they needed,

Health insurance, food, and their basic needs,

What would the Democratic candidate then offer?

No friends, they need you at the bottom, that is for sure!
